5. Roles and responsibilities

5.1 The governing board

The governing board is responsible for monitoring this behaviour policy's effectiveness and holding the headteacher to account for its implementation.

5.2 The headteacher

The headteacher is responsible for reviewing and approving this behaviour policy.

The headteacher will ensure that the school environment encourages positive behaviour and that staff deal effectively with poor behaviour, and will monitor how staff implement this policy to ensure rewards and sanctions are applied consistently. The headteacher will ensure all staff are provided with a copy of this policy and follow the blueprint in appendix 1.

5.3 Staff

Staff are responsible for:

- Implementing the behaviour policy consistently
- Modelling positive behaviour
- Providing a personalised approach to the specific behavioural needs of particular pupils
- Recording behaviour incidents
- The senior leadership team will support staff in responding to behaviour incidents.

5.4 Parents

Parents are expected to:

- Support their child in adhering to the pupil code of conduct
- Support the school's approach to promoting positive behaviour
- Inform the school of any changes in circumstances that may affect their child's behaviour
- Discuss any behavioural concerns with the class teacher promptly

6. Pupil code of conduct

Pupils are expected to:

- Behave in an orderly and self-controlled way

- Show respect to members of staff and each other
- In class, make it possible for all pupils to learn
- Move quietly around the school
- Treat the school buildings and school property with respect
- Wear the correct uniform at all times
- Accept sanctions when given
- Refrain from behaving in a way that brings the school into disrepute, including when outside school

7. Our approach to achieving positive behaviour

Our approach to achieving positive behaviour is achieved by focusing on the following:

7.1 Framework of emotional wellbeing

Based upon the Solihull approach

The emotional wellbeing framework is based on 3 core concepts:

Emotional Regulation: The process where we adjust our internal state in response to external demands which allows us to maintain optimal levels of arousal (be in our thinking brains). In school this involves supporting children to express their emotions safely and build resilience in dealing with their emotions.

Attunement: A reciprocal responsive interaction where we are in tune with another person and they feel like we really 'get them'. When we feel like someone is really in tune with us, it helps us to organise our thoughts and feelings. In school, this involves improving our relationships with each other and ensuring that everyone feels safe.

Structure: A consistent response that provides a structure that we can all understand which encourages feelings of safety. This includes having clear expectations, boundaries, consistency and behaviour management.

Relentless in Compassion, Consistency and Routines

- First attention for best conduct
- Scripted interventions
- Restorative follow-up
- Praise in public, reflect in private
- Clear routines

7.2 Teaching emotional literacy and PSHE

Emotional literacy is the ability of people to recognise, understand, handle and appropriately express their own emotions and to recognise, understand and respond appropriately to the expressed emotions of others. We teach children emotional literacy and PSHE through assemblies, whole-class teaching time, circle times, small group work, role play and modelling. Each classroom has a display dedicated to emotional literacy designed to support this learning.

7.3 Our rules

- Ready
- Respectful
- Safe

7.4 How we respond

- Consistent, calm behaviour
- First attention for best conduct (see 7.5)
- Relentless routines (see 7.6)
- Scripted interventions (see 7.7)
- Restorative follow-up (7.8)

7.5 Praise and rewards

Praise and rewards

'If you consistently reward minimum standards then pupils will strive for minimum standards. If you reward pupils for STANDING OUT then there is no limit to their excellent behaviour. In your classroom the STAND OUT mantra should be repeated often. Mark it with the children, "What Holly just did by collecting in all of the brushes by herself has saved a lot of time and effort for me. That is really standing out the St Thomas Way. Thank you Holly." Use it when presenting awards, placing names on the recognition board or when talking to parents. Focusing on the behaviour that is STAND OUT creates an immediate shift in expectations. It gives the children something more than bare minimum standards to achieve, it gives them something to reach for. How you recognise pupils who STAND out should lie at the heart of your behaviour practice.' (Paul Dix, When The Adults Change, Everything Changes. 2017)

We celebrate good work and good behaviour through:

- First attention for best conduct
- Specific praise for faith, aspiration, effort and respect
- Positive feedback to children and parents – stickers, notes, phone calls, conversations
- Triangulation of praise by sharing good news with other members of staff
- Whole class rewards

- Recognition boards
- The 'golden broom' is given to the tidiest class
- Hot chocolate Friday to celebrate those children who have gone 'over and above'

7.6 Classroom management

Teaching and support staff are responsible for setting the tone and context for positive behaviour within the classroom.

They will:

- Create and maintain a stimulating environment that encourages pupils to be engaged
- Display the school rules and actively use the class recognition board
- Develop a positive relationship with pupils, which may include:
 - Greeting pupils in the morning/at the start of lessons
 - Establishing clear routines
 - Communicating expectations of behaviour in ways other than verbally
 - Highlighting and promoting good behaviour
 - Concluding the day positively and starting the next day afresh
 - Having a plan for dealing with low-level disruption
 - Using positive reinforcement

7.7 Scripted interventions

Stage one

If any adult in school notices a child breaking one of the school rules, we use a scripted intervention such as: 'I notice that you're running. You are breaking our school rule of being safe. Thank you for listening.'

Stage two

If a child does not respond to school expectations of behaviour after they have had a reminder, we use the next level of scripted intervention. A 30-second script could be used such as: 'I have noticed you are.... not ready to do your work. You are breaking the school rule of being ready. You have chosen to catch up with your work at playtime. Do you remember that yesterday you started your work straight away and got it finished? That is what I need to see today. Thank you for listening.'

7.8 Restorative follow-up

Stage three

We recognise that things don't always go well. When this happens, we use five steps towards restorative follow up. Restorative conversations happen in private.

1. What happened? (Neutral, dispassionate language.)
2. What were you thinking at the time?
3. What have you thought since?
4. How did this make people feel?
5. Who has been affected? How? What should we do to put things right? How can we do things differently?

7.9 Reflective consequences (this list is not exhaustive or necessarily sequential)

1. A verbal reminder
2. Thinking time in class or at playtime or lunchtime
3. Going to another class, assistant head or head of school to reflect on behaviour (this may be during class, playtime or lunchtime)
4. Doing unsatisfactory work again or finishing work in playtime or lunchtime
5. A natural consequence as a result of their behaviour
6. Putting a pupil on monitoring system

We may use working in isolation with a member of staff in response to serious or persistent breaches of this policy.

Pupils may be sent to work in isolation during lessons if they are disruptive, and they will be expected to complete the same work as they would in class.

7.10 Monitoring of behaviour

Teachers will monitor behaviour in the class and will log incidents on CPOMS (data management system) as appropriate and always if it is deemed necessary talk to parents.

When there are patterns of behaviour, the class teacher will work with parents to analyse the presenting problem and predisposing, precipitating, perpetuating and protective factors. Advice from the SENCO and/or other agencies may be sought.

7.11 Pupil support

The school recognises its legal duty under the Equality Act 2010 to prevent pupils with a protected characteristic from being at a disadvantage. Consequently, our approach to challenging behaviour may be differentiated to cater to the needs of the pupil.

The school's special educational needs co-ordinator will evaluate a pupil who exhibits challenging behaviour to determine whether they have any underlying needs that are not currently being met.

Where necessary, support and advice will also be sought from specialist teachers, an educational psychologist, medical practitioners and/or others, to identify or support specific needs.

When acute needs are identified in a pupil, we will liaise with external agencies and plan support programmes for that child. We will work with parents to create the plan and review it on a regular basis.

7.12 Pupil transition

To ensure a smooth transition to the next year, pupils have transition sessions with their new teacher(s). In addition, staff members hold transition meetings.

To ensure behaviour is continually monitored and the right support is in place, information related to pupil behaviour issues may be transferred to relevant staff at the start of the term or year. Information on behaviour issues may also be shared with new settings for those pupils transferring to other schools.

8. Physical intervention

In some circumstances, staff may use reasonable force to restrain a pupil to prevent them:

- Causing disorder
- Hurting themselves or others
- Damaging property

Incidents of physical restraint must:

- Always be used as a last resort
- Be applied using the minimum amount of force and for the minimum amount of time possible
- Be used in a way that maintains the safety and dignity of all concerned
- Never be used as a form of punishment
- Be recorded and reported to parents (see appendix 2)

There may be occasions when it is appropriate to intervene physically with a pupil who is endangering themselves or others or causing significant damage to property. The circumstances in which this may happen, and what it may involve, are described in our Positive Handling Policy.

9. Serious incidents

Serious incidents or persistent incidents of inappropriate behaviour may result in exclusion (see exclusion policy)
